

THE PoliJAM TIMES

search...

Site Web

- Home
- Politics
- U.S.
- World
- Business
- Sports
- Entertainment
- Odd
- Science
- Health
- Commentary
- Video

'Gift' tops U.S. album chart - Ground crews at Delta reject union - Use of slain woman's statements debated - En

Study: World running out of fishing room

by: Administrator

SHARE | PRINT | EMAIL

Published : Friday, December 03 2010 20:23

VANCOUVER, British Columbia, Dec. 3 (UPI) -- Earth has run out of room to expand world fisheries and maintaining the present supply of wild fish is unsustainable, a Canadian study says.

University of British Columbia researchers say fisheries expanded at a rate of almost 400,000 square miles per year from the 1950s to the end of the 1970s, and then the rate of expansion more than tripled in the 1980s and early 1990s before experiencing a decline, ScienceDaily.com reported Friday.

"The decline of spatial expansion since the mid-1990s is not a reflection of successful conservation efforts but rather an indication that we've simply run out of room to expand fisheries," study author Wilf Swartz of the UBC Fisheries Center says.

A peak catch of 90 million tons in the late 1980s dropped to 87 million tons in 2005, the study says.

"If people in Japan, Europe, and North America find themselves wondering how the markets are still filled with seafood, it's in part because spatial expansion and trade makes up for overfishing and 'fishing down the food chain' in local waters," Swartz says.

But it's a situation that cannot continue, another researcher says.

"The era of great expansion has come to an end, and maintaining the current supply of wild fish sustainably is not possible," study co-author Enric Sala says. "The sooner we come to grips with it -- similar to how society has recognized the effects of climate change -- the sooner we can stop the downward spiral by creating stricter fisheries regulations and more marine reserves."

- Digg
- Google
- YahooBuzz
- Facebook
- Fark
- del.icio.us
- Stumble Upon
- Bebo
- Reddit
- Twitter

UP TO 90% OFF
THE FUNNEST STUFF IN TOWN

GROUPON See Today's Deal

PoliJAM on Facebook

Like

12,495 people like PoliJAM

Facebook social plugin

Most Popular

Booker: 'Cancun climate conference: The global warming scare was fun while it lasted, but the joke's over'.

WikiLeaks threatens to drop DIPLO BOMB if trouble befalls Assange.

John Bolton: WikiLeaks cables harm the U.S. -- But Obama is the bigger danger.

Obama admin. used spying, threats and promises of aid to get support for Copenhagen accord: WikiLeaks.

Russian 'mafia' head says Obama 'fulfilled his promise' to American voters.

PoliJAM Social

Post a Comment

Name (Required if not logged in)

Title (Required)

Large text input area for comments.

1000 symbols left

Refresh

Post a Comment

Hampton
by Hilton

The Great Getaway

Book Now, Get 20% off* and Get Away!

*Subject to terms and conditions

book now

Contact Us | Privacy Policy | Make PoliJAM Your Homepage | Advertise on PoliJAM
© Copyright 2010 www.PoliJAM.com, All Right Reserved.

Search...

Games Translate

Like